GLAR and FIRE PROOF
S A F E S !

undersigned would respectfully call the ention of the public to the above one safeguard of property—proof against the ng element of fire as well as the most skil
ar. To MER HANTS, JEWELLERS,
NK DIRECTORS, we would only say, ex
ine and the proofs, and you will be con d that superiority over all other manufac

business is done in a plain, straightforward
y, without resorting to humbug or large talk g some of the many testimonials we are ceiving from all parts of the country, and speaks for itself. Messrs Pond, & Hitch

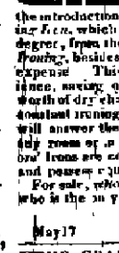
Almirable Invention!
PATENT SELF HEATING
SMOOTHING IRON!



MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century, relieving and facilitating the labors of men by machinery and other modern implements, but females have been greatly neglected until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron, which will relieve them, to a very great degree, from the excessive and fatiguing labor so Trying, besides being a great saving of time and expense. This Iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor, and despatch; one cent's worth of dry charcoal supplies fuel for a whole days' constant ironing. Hard wood coal from the stove will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room or in the open air. Hatters' and Tailors' Irons are constructed upon the same principle, and possess equal superiority.

SEYMOUR'S GALVANIC
ABDOMINAL SUPPORTER.
THIS apparatus possesses all the mechanical advantages of the Abdominal Supporters now in use, and also some valuable improvements besides the galvanic attachment. It has been tested, approved of, and universally adopted in the practice of all the leading Physicians in New York, Boston, and all other places where introduced, in the treatment of all Nervous diseases which exhibit themselves under so many different heads, particularly in the form of Uterine difficulties. The beneficial results which have uniformly attended the use of this instrument are sufficient guarantee, as to its merit, and general application. The advantages of this over other Supporters are, it carries by its Galvanic action, pleasant to the smooth surface that does not retain heat or impurities which pass from the system, and can be kept pure and healthful
The attention of the medical profession is respectfully solicited to an examination and test of this instrument. For sale above Supporters are for sale by GEO. W. EMERSON, Druggist, No 4 Smith's Block, sole agent for Bangor and vicinity.

Whig and Courier.
The "Shell" question Settled.
The administration has been sustained, and its enemies are throwing up their caps in testacy all over the land—at the nation and harmony that have been restored among the party dominant. Redfield is confirmed Collector of New York, and the country is saved as a consequence!
Now, as long as the present state of things prevails, we think it but just that the party in power should select such agents as will concur with their views of public policy, but we are most heartily sick and tired of the scramble for spoils engendered by the system in the advent of every new administration, and keept up during its existence, with an eye to the accession. The "patronage" in the hands of the President will breed one of the most prolific sources of party and social strife, and the cause, in a very considerable extent, of the ceaseless agitation which pervades Congress and the country at large. No sooner is the President elect inaugurated, than politicians begin to cast about for the "spoils," and when they are distributed for a successor. The friends of particular individuals are incessantly at work, in season and out of season, in bolstering the popularity of "the man of their choice"—that is to say, the man in whom their expectations are lodged. All sorts of intrigue and wire working, ramifying the press, and extending from metropolitan centres to the remotest extremities of the several States, are in operation, and projected to a great effect. The game of politics is played from year's end to year's end, and never played out. And the grand object to be achieved is the share of government patronage in the distribution of the national offices.
Degrading and demoralizing as all this is to the political character of the people, it is perhaps even more to the national reputation abroad with the Presidential office. The immense "patronage" at the disposal of the administration is not only embarrassing, in the extreme, with respect to the conciliation of cliques and interests, but involves the most monstrous absurdities, and their corresponding results. It requires no argument to convince the reader that the President, solid Cabinet are liable to misconception in their appointments to office throughout all this immense territory.—And few have had so little experience as to be unable to recall instances in which the injudicious selection of persons for places has been made. While, it not frequently occurs, that worthy men, and men obnoxious to the community in which they dwell, on account of public or private character, succeed in obtaining office and position, which they never would receive at the hands of their fellow citizens.
There is but one remedy for this. It is sufficient, however, to relieve the administration, and in a great measure to the abatement of agitation with respect to the Presidency, and permit local interests to local communities. It is simply to transfer the "patronage" of the administration of the people. The principal offices pertaining to the business of the government should be made elective, and the choice of the incumbents should be with the people.—This general proposition is every way consistent with an effective and judicious reform; though it would be subject to modification according to circumstances not within the detail of a newspaper article.—Boston Mail.

Truthfulness.
Of all happy households, that is the happiest where falsehood is never thought of. All peace is broken up when once it appears that there is a fissure in the ice. All comfort has gone when suspicion has once entered—when there must be reserve in talk and reservation in belief.—Anxious parents, who are aware of the pains of suspicion, will place general confidence in their children and receive what they say freely, unless there is strong reason to distrust the truth of any one. OTHER FIRST PAGE.

☞ It is very natural that men who seek to obtain public offices should think of their board and coal, their bread and butter, but it is quite essential for the public that they should be willing to perform a large amount of labor for their pay, be willing to suffer inconvenience or to be patiently overcome many petty annoyances and to exercise largely the spirit of accommodation. There are some offices, in custom houses, for instance, where there is little or nothing to do, and it is of no consequence to the public as to the person who fills them. It is quite different, however, in the case of Postmasters. In this office the duties of clerks, from the chief down to the lowest clerk, there ought to be a willingness for labor, a determination to do what is necessary, and all that is necessary for the accommodation of the public. There needs to be great care and plain-dealing—a critical accuracy in small things—an unbounded patience—an untiring obedience—a constant good natured alacrity—an all-pervading personal suavity—a lively intelligence and an electrical adaptation to the place and circumstances. No eye-service or purpose of gaining, no show of loving hearts-ease, no men who have large self-esteem demanding reverence from others—no men who will treat aback on mere form—no men to hear men who do not ever watching the minute hand of the clock, to terminate their hour, will answer to be employed in any of the departments of a post office.

This department of government, the post-office, is one in which the largest remuneration should be extended to the public. This is its great aim and object and to carry it out in the true spirit should be the effort and the pride of all connected with it. To do it, requires an amount of attention, and quality of mind, as we may in as well say of heart too, that all do not and ought not to be remained cheaply. We are for having all these men well paid, so that they can feel like exchanging their duty cheerfully, faithfully, pleasantly, and be contented and happy in serving the public.

It is said that by the present law the pay of the office in this city is too small. If it is so we hope no time will be lost in increasing its pay, and we think that in an office of the importance of the one located in this city, that there should be provision for a night clerk for the security of the office, as well as the despatch of business. The government ought to consult in this matter. Better spend less money on the army and navy and a little more on the post office. As at present arranged, much value of property is daily exposed in the post office, and the public are not receiving as well accommodated by the mails as they might be and ought to be with a right clerk, and greater force in the office.

We have a personal interest, connected to be sure, with the general relation of the public in the publication of a morning paper, in having the arrangements of the post office improved, and we hope it will be accomplished for our comfort and convenience, as well as that of the public.

☞ Wendal Phillips, Esq. of Massachusetts by invitation of several gentlemen of our city delivered an address at the City Hall yesterday afternoon. The Hall was filled with an attentive audience and for two hours the lecturer held them to a consideration of various facts, principles and aspects of slavery, presented with great clearness of manner, beauty of style, but with severity of conclusion, and seeming vindictiveness forcing the listeners into one-sidedness according to his representation of persons, institutions and acts. Few probably could go the length with him in his conclusions nor do we think that his several positions were maintained and logical in all cases even in the various qualifications which were interposed, but still there was a broad belt of essential truth and justness of criticism in the remarks which could not but command itself to most minds, and there is no denying that the logic of the heart, so frequently appealed to touched many hearts with its deep sympathy.

The lecture was highly interesting, enlivened with many gems of naturally introduced as to resemble a spontaneous growth, but with a depth and scope of movement that in practical adroit of principle in the form of measures would make the nation cringe. It had, however its appeal to the which all right minded thing.

☞ A Washington correspondent of the New York Times states that Senator Douglas and his friends are evidently pushing the Nebraska question too far. That a return by extend to Senator Chase a courtesy never before refused, and denounced even by Southern Senators, will disgraceful to the body.

The strongest point in Senator Douglas' speech was that there is no part of the original Territory of Texas left under the operation of the slavery prohibition by the resolutions of annexation, and that, therefore, Mason's proviso to the Texas Boundary bill, does not disprove that the Compromise Acts of 1850 suspended the Missouri Compromise.

In answer to this, a careful examination of the maps shows that there is a thin but neat in the territory originally belonging to Texas, and over which Mexico exercises it will in fact. Lies between the parallels of 15 deg. and 20 deg. west longitude, and between 36 deg. 30 min. north latitude, and the Arkansas River—covering three degrees of longitude, and one and a half of latitude. This certainly sustains the argument of the Independent Democratic Address.

It would seem to be Mr Douglas' aim to make the opposition odious, by asserting it as the sole work of "the Abolitionists." In this he will fail, is failing, has failed thereby. Every hour's delay adds to the strength of the opposition and shows that it is deep in the hearts of the people; and the effort to damn it up by piling the agony on "Abolitionists," is about as sensible as would be an effort to smother all Congress by telling its members that the air they breathe sustains the lives as well of the "Abolition confederates."

☞ The Senate are so day to make choice of a governor from the two candidates before them, Crosby, Whig, and Morrill, Maine Law Democrat. We cannot to some fears, if the Senate is now constituted, that Mr. Crosby can present worthy chief magistrate, any fault of election.

☞ Issued, hogs are now selling in this market at $3 1-4 @ 3 1-2 cwt in gross.

☞ The publication of the Belfast Signal has been finally suspended and the subscribers transferred to the books of the Kennebec Journal, an excellent Whig paper published at Augusta and which will prove satisfactory to the friends of the Signal. It ought not to be thought strange that the Signal, in so good a location, and which has maintained itself for so many years, should now suspend. The price of paper and all the other expenses in publishing papers have greatly increased. In some localities this is obviated somewhat by the use of larger type, covering the same space with less matter. In other cases female help is employed. In some cases the size of the paper is lessened. But after all this can be done in this way the say papers are published amidst embarrassments mainly growing out of an abused system of interminable credit and whose demand for them is not equal to the cost of supporting them as they should be supported. Another, crushing influence to local papers, is the competition from abroad by publishers who get a living local support, and for the purpose of a general circulation sell their papers to clubs at about the cost of production. The people generally should consider the fact that if they mean to secure to themselves the benefits of a local paper, they must support that paper, and if they can afford to take but one paper they should take their local paper, and when they can go beyond this, then they can take some other paper, and so on, until they get a full supply. They should never suppose that a distant paper can answer the purpose of a local paper, for it never can.

☞ It is stated that the Messrs. Harper's New York, whose immense establishment was recently destroyed by fire, have kindly offered to pay the board of the girls so suddenly deprived of employment until the business is sufficiently advanced to give them the opportunity of resuming their labors. Such liberality cannot fail to meet its reward. The consciousness of having benefitted so many in time of pressing need, is perhaps a greater satisfaction to those gentlemen than any other reward. This fact will do well for those to ponder who are persistently striving to keep up a war between the employed and their employers.

We have not for instance to mention, a case in this vicinity, a manufacturing business which has been carried on the last year at a loss of some thousands of dollars. But the persons engaged in it feel an interest in the locality or twenty hands in depending upon their business for employment and support, and were it not for this they would slacken their business or suspend it for a time and put it upon a new basis, but they are unwilling to throw so many persons out of employment and the means of support in such times as these, and they therefore keep their business going at full speed, although at a daily loss. They have capital enough to sustain them, and the business will, by-and-by, adjust itself so as to pay its way.—This world is not all dark.

Book notices, &c. The Lives of Luther. By the Rev. John Cumming, D. D., F. R. S. E., Minister of the Scottish National Church, Crown Court, Convent Garden Boston:—John P. Jewett & Co.

We have received from Messrs Estes & Lewis, this volume of about five hundred pages, well printed on, well bound—a large, clear type and good paper &c contains an interesting sketch of the Reformed Author from the pen of John Ross Dix, from which we learn that he is not only an eloquent and popular preacher but an author whose works on religious subjects meet with a large sale and are extensively read throughout the British empire.

The volume contains twenty-four chapters treating of the following subjects: Good Music The Divorced People. The Happy Heirs of the Kingdom. Sorrow Sweetened. Faith's Rightful Heirs. The Hungry filled with Good Things. Twice Blessed Beatitude of the Pure in Heart. The Happy Family. The Noble Army of Martyrs. Blessedness. The Joyous Festival. The Blessed Watchman.—The Holy and Happy Dead. Blessed for the Blessed Life. Refreshment and Rest. The Blessed Mother. The only Absolution. The Web of the Blessed Life. Complete in Christ. The Blessed Promise. Words of Eternal Life. Temple Life. The Apostolic.

This range of subjects has enabled the Author to enforce many great truths and to bring out his central and all-pervading idea that the seat of moral disease which blights all life and causes disquiet and unrest lies deep in the unsanctified heart, and no remedy, however slurred up by intellect or clothed with splendor of outward circumstances, can be effectual to the enjoyment of life unless the heart be first effectually, its evils seen and cleansed and the whole life reasoned and transformed.

FARMERS' CONVENTION.

The Convention assembled in the new hall of the basement story in the State House, Jan. 25 and, 26, and were called to order by Hon. Mr. Farrell, of Greene, on whose motion David Norton, Esq., of Monmouth was chosen permanent Chairman. E. Holmes, of Winthrop was chosen Secretary, and Messrs. John Arnold, of Augusta, and Sidney Peckam, of Woodstock, Assistant Secretaries.

The convention was addressed by Mr. Crane, of Kendusheag, on the importance of more concert of action among the farmers of Maine, in improving and promoting their cause.

On motion of Mr. Robinson of Augusta, voted to raise a committee of seven, to prepare resolutions, and report a schedule of business to the convention, and Messrs N. Robinson, of Augusta; E. Knowlton, of Monmouth; J. D. Prescott of Farmington; John Arnold, of Augusta; J. R. Shurtleff, of Windsor; J. H. Webster, of Norridgewock; and Joseph Cobb, of Jay, were chosen.

While the committee were out, Mr. Waring, of New York, was called upon to answer some questions in regard to the value of Mapes' improved Super phosphate of Lime, as a fertilizer, and a very interesting discussion sprang up.

Mr. Waring gave a lucid explanation of the causes which make a dressing of that kind necessary, and mentioned instances of successful use of it. Other gentlemen gave an account of their experience in its use, which was favorable to using it, except in very dry weather.—The convention then adjourned to 2 o'clock, P. M.

Afternoon.—On motion of Mr. Crane, of Kendusheag, in order to complete the organization, Messrs. Knowlton, of Monmouth, French, of Corinth; and Pardy, of Winthrop, were chosen Vice Presidents of the Convention.

The committee on resolutions reported in part, and laid the following resolves upon the table.

1. Resolved—That a more general diffusion of agricultural knowledge, among the farmers of this State, is essential to the promotion of this highly important interest.

2. Resolved—That an appropriation of the public lands belonging to the State, be asked from the Legislature, to establish an agricultural school, for schools, to be connected with a farm, or farms, for the purpose of promoting a systematic and scientific education in agriculture, among the youths of this State.

Mr. Prescott, of the committee, then addressed the convention.

On motion of Mr. Little of Bangor, the last resolve was taken up.

The Convention was also addressed by Messrs. Webster of Norridgewock; Dagget of Farmington Falls, Prescott of Farmington, in favor of the resolution, and it was unanimously adopted.

On motion of Mr. Dagget, the second resolution was taken up.

Mr. Prescott advocated the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. Crane of Kendusheag, moved to amend it to resolve by striking out all after the word "schools," and inserting "and also for the purpose of introducing into the common schools of this State the study of the elementary principles of agricultural science."

Messrs. Webster of Norridgewock, Prescott of Farmington, Robinson of Augusta, spoke against the amendment, and Messrs. Crane of Kendusheag, Holmes of Winthrop, Parham of Woodstock, Dagget of Farmington Falls, and Armstrong of Readfield, in favor.

Mr. Prescott offered the following amendment to the amendment:—After the word "science," add "and to accomplish this, the Maine Farmer be introduced into all the primary schools in the State, and portions thereof from be read and considered and commented upon by teachers of such schools from day to day."

After some time spent in visited debate, the Convention adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY, January 26.

Convention met according to adjournment.

The question of adopting the amendment to the amendment was again discussed, and decided in the negative.

The question then returned on the adoption of Mr. Crane's amendment. Messrs. Robinson of Augusta, Shurtleff of Winslow, Webster of Norridgewock, and Prescott of Farmington, spoke against its adoption, and Messrs Peckam of Woodstock, Holmes of Winthrop, Cobb, of Jay, and Dagget of Farmington Falls, in favor.

Mr. Holmes moved to recommit the whole subject to the committee, with instructions to bring in a resolve recommending the study of the elements of agriculture in common schools, another asking the establishment of higher schools of Agriculture, connected with farms. A debate sprung up on this question, pending which, the Convention adjourned to the afternoon.

Afternoon 2 P. M. Convention met according to adjournment. Mr. Holmes, by leave, withdrew his motion to recommit Mr. Crane also, by leave, withdrew his amendment, and the question returned on the adoption of the second resolution, as reported by the committee.

Voted To lay it on the table and the Convention take a recess, a short time, in order to give the Board of Agriculture, who occupied the Hall time to adjourn over to evening.

This being done, the Convention was again called to order by the President, and the second resolution called up for further consideration. Messrs. Hobbs of Lovell, Webster of Norridgewock, Thompson of Augusta, Perham of Woodstock, and Prescott of Farmington, spoke in favor of adopting the resolution, and the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Covell of Ayr laid upon the table a resolution in favor of Agricultural studies in common schools, but subsequently withdrew it, and Mr. Crane offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Legislature be requested to pass an act additional to an act to provide for the education of youth," authorizing and ordering the introduction of the study of the elementary principles of Agricultural science into our common schools.

On motion of Mr. Crane, voted to invite Mr. Waring to make some remarks on the principles of Agriculture, and Mr. Waring accordingly addressed the Convention on the constituent principles of plants, and the application of fertilizers—after which questions were put to him and desultory conversation sprung up.

The Convention then voted that the proceedings be signed by the Chairman and Secretary, and published in the Farmer, and such papers as the Senate please to do it, and that the resolutions be communicated to the Board of Agriculture, and by them transmitted to the Legislature, accompanied with such remarks as they deem proper.

The Convention then adjourned without day.

New French Settlement in the Pacific.

The Sydny papers state that the French have taken possession of the groupe of islands called New Caledonia. The French war steamer Phogue arrived there from Tahiti on the 23d of September and on the 24th the Admiral landed at Berade, and, hoisting the French flag, formally took possession of the "Island of New Caledonia and its dependences," in the name of His Imperial Majesty, Napoleon III, Emperor of the French. The American barque John H Mil ard, was immediately despatched to Sydney for stores and supplies on a large scale, and it was stated that three French frigates would follow the Phogue, with troops to insure the possession of the island.

The Sydny Herald says:

"We have reason to believe that the immediate object of the French government is to establish a penal settlement on the island; but coupled with the systematic extension of French influence over the Society Islands, the Pomotou Group, and the Marquesas, this occurrence assumes a great importance in a politics point of view, and is indicative of well considered design on the part of the French Emperor

In a commercial point of view, the colonization of New Caledonia, even by the French, may appear at first sight advantageous to the interests of this city; but such a consideration is entirely secondary in importance, and sinks into insignificance by the side of the moral, social, and political consequences attached to the occupation of one of the most splendid islands in the Pacific by a rival nation, whose aims and objects are so dissimilar, not to say opposite, to those which have for many years been earnestly contemplated by the most intelligent colonists of Australia and New Zealand."

New Caledonia is about 900 miles east of Australia. It was discovered by Cook, in 1774. It is 280 miles long and 70 miles wide. Its chief productions are yams and taros. The natives are mild, and very skillful in the cultivation of the soil.

A MAGNIFICENT RAILROAD SCHEME. The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Courier and Enquirer says:

"The Committee on Public Lands has before it a Railroad project almost rivalling the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad. This scheme is for a grant of lands to aid in building a road from New Orleans to Fond du Lac on Lake Superior, a distance by the route proposed of about fifteen hundred miles. The route suggested is from New Orleans to Jackson, Miss., thence to Helena, in Arkansas, thence on the west side of the river to St. Paul's, Minnesota, crossing the Mississippi again at that point, and thence to Lake Superior. The success of the application for government aid to this great work will depend, to some extent, upon the general policy adopted by Congress in disposing of the Public Lands. If it be decided to encourage all feasible and necessary enterprises for railroads in the new States, provision will probably be made for the realization of this project, magnificent as it appears to be."

☞ To the Ladies.—Hurd's Golden Gloss for the Hair, is a preparation which has no equal. It is highly perfumed, as it imparts the fragrance of the most delightful flowers. It makes the hair and causes it to grow luxuriantly, preventing it from falling off or turning grey. It removes dandruff, prevents pustules forming, and keeps the scalp clean, smooth and healthy. It has cured nervousness and sick headache in a single application. Ladies who desire its value in this respect will never be without it. Price 25 cts. W. C. HUGH, Prop'r etc. 304 Broadway, New York. Bangor, Dec. 6, 1853

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE!

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, both of which had the tetter. He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, within six months, of citizens of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of scrofula.

One bottle will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the worst blotches on the face.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

One or two bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

Directions how to use the medicine accompany each bottle.

Nothing looks more reprehensible in a man who runs for office than the wonderful multiplicity of the day, as that a common wen, a new vice, or pimples on the face, and along old stone wall, should cause misery and humor in the system, yet such a thing is a fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There are no ifs and buts, humor is humor, and it will come to the surface, but never does it spell itself over a hundred blotches of it on the vicinity of Boston. I know this of facts of it in every part of it, and also I discovered a certain remedy for it, and since I discovered it gave it to children a year old, to one people of sixty. I have seen sore, puny, weeping looking children, whose flesh was as it were flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To such who are disgusted with such hideousness, one bottle will change a man. It gives great relief in fifteen and fifty minutes. None who have taken it have been obliged to lay down, and have seen regular old age at it. Where the body is soiled it opens quite easy, but where there is any deranging cause of the skin to appear in some instance, it will cause very singular feelings, but you need not be alarmed, they always appear in some instance, to a week. There never has been a bad result from it—on the contrary when that feeling is gone you will feel as much like a new person. I heard some of the most extraordinary accounts of it that ever man uttered to.
